Warning Issued On Assessing Uniformity

Stern warning was issued today by the State Tax Commission to all assessors of the state that they must immediately begin assessing personal property and real estate uniformly. Chairman, Robert A. Eckhardt, stated that although much progress has been made since 1955 in the direction which the Assessor's Manual was published, the commission is not entirely satisfied.

"Year after year the commission has cautioned assessors at meetings, schools of instruction, and by bulletins, to assess both real estate and personal property uniformly. Presently, there remain only a few major islands of resistance in the state," Eckhardt stated. "But these are causing great difficulty. Our commission is unanimous that immediate action is necessary and this is our final warning to assessors. The commission recognizes that in some areas the mechanics of this program entails numerous adjustments with varied ramifications, however," Eckhardt stated, "that in spite of the apparent difficulties a program of uniformity must be recognized and that the Tax Commission will insist upon it in the future."

Eckhardt stated that Michigan is one of the leaders in the nation with its progress in the field of assessing, and that numerous reappraisals of entire cities had been made to achieve uniformity and equity of assessing. In addition some seventeen counties, representing 67.534% of the total value of the state, now have equalization departments or tax equalization committees which are working continuously on tax equalization studies. He added that it is the reluctance of the minority to act which brings a final warning from the commission of its policy in such matters.

"With interest in Con-Con running high, and the Legislature due to meet shortly, we desire the public to know our position in this vital field of taxation. Local politics will have no effect on our policy," stated Eckhardt.

United Church Women

The United Church Women of Michigan take this means of expressing their appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Association, the City Management and individual merchants who refrained from premature Christmas promotion which so often lately has tended not only to cheapen and over commercialize what should be a distinctly religious observance but to detract much from the importance of that most American of all festivals, Thanksgiving.

This year, in Grayling at least, Thanksgiving was permitted to occupy its own season without competition, and when the Christmas promotion began with the Advent Season, people were ready to enjoy greens, carols, street and window decorations and all other visible and audible reminders of the season.

It is our sincere hope that this evidence of good taste will become a Grayling tradition.

Frederic Eagles Travel To Central Lake

The Frederic Eagles travel to Central Lake this Friday for a conference game with the Trojans who are highly rated this year. The Eagles will be shooting for a victory after being knocked out of the Gaylord St. Mary's Holiday tourney by the host team and eventual victors.

On Wednesday of this week, the Frederic Junior High team defeated the Trojans 42 to 38 in a game played at the Frederic gym.

In the opening night action in the holiday tourney at Gaylord, the Frederic Eagles swept the Alpena Junior Varsity 51 to 43 to move up in the winner's bracket. However, the next night at 9:30, the Eagles were unfortunate to be paired with St. Mary's who won the tourney.

Alpena High's junior varsity saw a six-point half time lead melt away in the second half. Frederic center Ron Smith's 23 points in 9 - 6 paced the winners to their second half-victory. The best output for Alpena was Guard Howard French's 13 points on 6 - 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Esbern Olson left Sunday to spend the winter months in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Grayling Firemen Called To Fight Two Blazes

The Grayling Fire Department was called out on two occasions during the holiday season to fight fires. On Wednesday, December 28th, the department was called to the Otto Felling residence on the Dam Road west of Grayling in the afternoon. Five firemen battled a blaze there, subduing it in about an hour. Cause of the fire was determined and loss was estimated at about $250.

On New Year's Day, the department was called to fight a fire in a house trailer owned by John Wakeley and located about nine miles south of Grayling in Beaver Creek Township. The fire was caused by an exploding oil heater. The trailer was a complete loss.

Underground Forest Stops West Branch Independents

The Underground Forest All Stars came with another victory on Thursday night, December 29 when they took the measure of a fine West Branch aggregation 74 to 68.

The team has four more road games to face. They will be in Boyne City on January 14, McBain, January 21, and back to West Branch on January 28. On February 4, the All Stars will host a top team from the area in the Frederic High gym before their fans of this gym.

Retail Trade Locally Exceeds Quota

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK — How was business in Crawford County in the last fiscal year?

According to a new, nationwide survey, just made public, retail activity was at a healthy level right through the first half of 1960.

With a majority of the workers getting bigger incomes, personal expenditures were high.

The survey, covering every part of the United States, is for the twelve months ending June 30, 1960. It was compiled by the Standard Rate and Data Service on the basis of data gathered from national, state and local sources.

It shows that retail business in Crawford County reached a gross figure of $7,080,000 in the year, climbing past the $6,398,000 recorded in fiscal 1959.

This was in direct contrast to the experience in some other areas of the country where there was considerable unemployment and, consequently, a large drop in business.

With the $7,080,000 volume, retailers locally accounted for .0032 percent of the nation's business, states the SRDS report. It was more than their quota since the county's population is only .0027 percent of the nation's.

Sales strength was noted in most groups of stores, but especially in those selling children's clothing and shoes, drugs, household equipment, food and other supplies. Retailers noted that the birth rate has been high and that there are more youngsters around.

Most of the confident spending by Crawford County residents stemmed from the fact that personal incomes, by and large, held up well.

The reports shows that local earnings, after allowing for tax deductions, amounted to $4,527,000 in the year, as against $4,266,000 in fiscal 1959.

It was at the average rate of $2,998 per household, which is more than was available in the county in the previous year, $2,807 per household.

The fact that sales were greater than income shows that the county is the marketing center for the region.

Denying that the lack of buoyancy in business in more recent months is due to the fact that people are over-extended, the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center claims that it is truly only for a small part of the population. Most people can borrow much more if they want to. Self-discipline and sound budgeting stop them from doing so.

Richard Legg Killed In Blast

Richard C. Legg, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Legg of 11, Roscommon was one of three technicians killed when a non-atomic blast tipped an experimental nuclear reactor at a research station in Idaho.

The reactor, which had been in operation for several months, was used to study the behavior of nuclear fuel elements in a reactor.

Legg, a 1952 Grayling High School graduate, was a Navy construction electrician first class. Among the survivors, besides his parents, is a brother Donald of Grayling.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said "very definitely" there was no danger from radiation to any community however.

The accident was the first United States reactor mishap to cause injury or death, the AEC said.

It said 248 reactors, ranging from small research devices to mammoth production plants have operated in this country, and more than 200 are still operating.

The national reactor testing station where the accident occurred sprawls over 882 square miles, mostly sage brush and lava rock. It is 30 miles from the nearest sizeable community, Idaho Falls, with 34,000 residents.

The men were working with the prototype of a small portable nuclear reactor intended for use by the Army to furnish power in remote areas.

Precise cause of the explosion has not been determined, but the AEC spokesman said it was theorized heat resulting from the reactor operation might have caused a chemical reaction between water and a layer of aluminum-nickel alloy that covers the uranium fuel elements of the reactor.

To Slash Trout Planting In '61

Trout fishermen will be next to feel the pinch of the Conservation Department's forced austerity program. Hatchery plantings of 1961 planting schedule reveals.

Hatchery plantings of legal-size trout will be cut by nearly 30 percent next year. Present plans call for releasing some 1,350,000 brook browns and rainbows in state waters, about 450,000 below last year's total.

Inland lakes will be stocked with approximately 65,000 lake trout, the same as in 1960.

Next year's big cutback in plantings is another belt-tightening measure brought on by a growing money crisis. Michigan's Game and Inland Fisheries Department is also in with the long-range re-alignment of the Department's fisheries program which got underway at mid-year.

Fluctuations of the Game and Fish Fund will prompt the Conservation Commission to ask the 1961 Legislature for three changes in the state's fishing license-structure which would provide an estimated $800,000 annually in new revenue.

The proposed changes include a license requirement for Great Lakes fishing and a $1 increase in both resident licenses and trout stamps.

Streams will absorb the biggest cutback in plantings next year. This is in keeping with creel census studies which show that lakes yield best returns to fishermen on plantings which total about 900,000 trout, marking the first time in a number of years they will not top 1,000,000. Approximately 450,000 trout, mostly brook and rainbows will be released in lakes.

With a few possible exceptions, plantings will be made in the same waters as in 1960. They will be reduced proportionately across the board. Details of the planting schedule are still to be worked out.

Announce Two County Highway Projects

LANSING — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie today announced the addition of nearly $7 million in highway work to the estimated $250 million construction program for 1961.

Mackie said $1 projects for asphalt paving and modernization of 228 miles of state highway in 28 counties have been added to the Highway Department's 1961 construction program.

Bids on all of the projects will be opened by February 22 and July 19 and the work will be completed by the end of 1961.

Mackie said the projects are designed to improve the state's existing highway system while pushing forward on freeway construction.

Among the projects announced were: Crawford County — 4.9 miles of resurfacing on US-27 north from the south county line, April 12 miles of resurfacing on US-27 from the north county line south to M-93, April 6.

Michelson Memorial Honors Students

The first Sunday of the year is "Student Recognition Day" in Methodist Churches. At Michelson Memorial, students and other young people were welcomed home by Miss Patsy Wiseman, president of the Senior Youth Fellowship. President, in response, Roger Nelson, a student at Northwestern College, expressed the appreciation of the older young people for the guidance and security provided by the families, the church and other community organizations as the children of the community grow into youth and toward adulthood.

On Friday preceding Student Recognition Day, girl students were honored at a Silver Tea hosted by the Women's Society the offering being assigned to the Bronson Hospital Crippled Children's Research Foundation.

Michelson Memorial is particularly happy to welcome home Miss Arlene Petersen, who has spent three years in an African mission field.

Woman's Club

The Grayling Woman's Club held a Christmas party for the golden age folk on Wednesday, December 28th, at the clubhouse, from 2 to 4 p. m.

Mrs. Arthur Feldhauser played and the group sang Christmas carols and cards were distributed. A lunch was served at individual tables with attractive centerpieces, and favors at each place.

Gifts were given to each guest, and an award was given to Joe Smith, 85, for being the eldest lady present, and to Frank Serven, 82, for being the eldest man present.

Cosirmen Mrs. Rex Hawkins and Mrs. Clarence Holcomb were assisted by Mrs. Alex Bailey, Mrs. Barney Engel, Mrs. Bud Gould, Mrs. Carl Richardson, Mrs. Tom Haugh, Mrs. Jack Wilkins, and Mrs. Lora Douglas.

The Women's Club hopes that no one in the 70 or older group was missed at this party, and if there is anyone who was overlooked, they are asked to contact anyone on the above list for next year's party.

Adopt New Sales Tax Schedule

Beginning Jan. 1, 1961, customers of retail stores not only in Crawford County but other parts of Michigan start paying a 4% sales tax.

In anticipation of the possible constitutional amendment which might nullify the state sales tax brackets to use a committee of the retail merchants division of the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce voted to suggest what has commonly been referred to as the "mathematically accurate" tax collection bracket.

The schedule was adopted after information had been assembled from Lansing and the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, indicating that Detroit, Saginaw and Lansing were planning to use the "mathematically accurate" schedule rather than the "California modified" or "mathematically accurate" schedule.

Sales tax collection brackets for the beginning of the tax year than have switched to it later.

Run the Tempest over the roughest road you can find. It rides like the big ones because it's balanced! The engine's up front—the transmission's in the rear. And it's got independent suspension at all four wheels. Tires dig in, firm on curves and turns. Full 15-inch wheels make car look big. Tires last. Brakes run cooler.

Before it hit the market, Tempest had 3,000,000 miles of testing by engineers, pro drivers and a team of teenagers. Its reliability checked out 100%. Owners have rolled up millions more. The only kick is the one it puts back in driving. Try it!

IF THERE'S SUCH A THING as political climate, it seems to be changing for the better in Michigan.

The constant thunder and lightning of clashes between Republicans and Democrats under the Capitol dome could even change into the soft zephyrs of compromise and cooperation. More realistically, the opposing sides of the political aisle may be trying just a little harder to work together and to see the value of the other's point of view.

To draw the weather analogy just a bit farther, with a Democrat in the Governor's chair and Republicans in control of the Legislature, it's always partly cloudy. Though a sudden and violent squall can arise from a "cold" Crawford County Avalanche Thursday, January 5, 1961.

front" of partisan disagreement, it need not blow hard in all directions for a long period of time. The recent special session in which lawmakers voted a penny hike in the sales and use taxes came off without a hitch. The bitter wrangling of the 1959 and 1960 regular sessions caused in part by the inflexibility of both parties, was missing.

True, the tax hikes were dictated by the people when they voted on the question Nov. 8. But Governor-Elect John E. Swainson, who served two terms in the State Senate and presided over the body as Lieutenant Governor for two years, showed an ability to get along with his former colleagues. More important, most of the 22 Republicans in the Senate made an effort to get along with Swainson.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams and the GOP lawmakers were at odds almost constantly on almost every issue during the entire 12 years he spent as chief executive.

An analysis of the vastly complex reasons why this was so is rich ground to be explored by the authors of weighty tomes in the realm of political science.

Needless to say, neither Williams nor the Republicans wanted to hold back the state's progress.

Many reasons for squabbling were outside the particular area being argued at any given time. Political and personal pressures completely unrelated to the results of everyday state operations were at work during the entire time Williams was bringing the Democratic party to prominence in Michigan.

This Week In History

In some parts of the world, January 6 is known as Old Christmas Day. Under an old style calendar, Christmas fell on January 6. This day is the Feast of the Epiphany and in some parts of the world is still preceded by "Twelfth Night" observances. The 12th Night (also still a custom in France, where it probably originated, but Twelfth Night is believed to have started as a festival honoring the Magi or three wise men who came to find the Christ Child, January 6 is the birthday of some famous persons as Joan d'Arc, Benjamin Franklin and Theodore Roosevelt.

January 7 in history records the birthday of Millard Fillmore, 13th U.S. President (1850); first balloon flight across the English Channel (1783); and first revenue passengers carried on railroad, (1830).

On January 8, 1918, Mississippi was first state to ratify the Prohibition Amendment; on this date in 1815, Andrew Jackson won the Battle of New Orleans. On January 9, 1945, General MacArthur returned to Luzon. January 10, 1775 is the birthday of the U.S. Marine Corps. Alexander Hamilton was born on Jan. 11, 1757 and on January 11, 1935 Amelia Earhart-Putnam started solo flight across the Pacific. On January 12, 1937, explorers Martin and Osa Johnson were killed in air crash.

Feldhauser School Christmas Program

The children of the Feldhauser School, from the Kindergarten through the Sixth grade, presented their annual Christmas program at the schoolhouse on Tuesday, December 20th, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Arthur Wakeley. Following is the program:

"Christmas Bells," a poem recited by Joanne Sinn, "The Gift," a play, in which Danny Sinn, Joanne Sinn, Janice Beery, Larry Beery, Benny Pettijohn, Patsy Kellogg, Stewart Graham, Janet Stephan, Kirby Pettijohn and Norbert Skotnicki took part. "Tomorrow is Christmas" by Larry Beery; "The First Christmas" by Janice Beery; "The Christmas Mice" by the kindergarten class, Susie Wakeley, Henry Feldhauser, Gate Fowler and Wendy Feldhauser; the reading of a "Christmas Legend," by Patsy Kellogg; the poem, "Socks Trouble," by Roger Jurga; a dialogue, "Home Work Just Before Christmas," by Janet Stephan and Karen Kellogg; a play, "Cross Little Carol" in which Jeff Fowler, Alfred Feldhauser, and David Shaw played the part of Brownies, and Karen Feldhauser, Audrey Gierke and Gail Fowler played Dolls, Julie Vallad was Mrs. Santa and Benny Pettijohn was Santa Claus.

The singing of "Silent Night" and "Away in the Manger" by the entire school was accompanied by Mrs. Bernard Fowler at the piano. "Goodnight and Merry Christmas" by Kirby Pettijohn concluded the program, which was followed by the distribution of gifts to all the children.

MICHIGAN HUNTERS heeded a warning, and as a result nobody died from faulty heaters in trailers during the 1960 season.

Last year, nine fatalities were recorded because carbon monoxide gas crept into the mobile sleeping quarters of cold weather nimrods.

Specifically, the 1959 deaths were attributed to an improperly designed vent which permitted the fumes to remain inside.

Trailer owners, health department engineers, heater manufacturers, trailer dealers and State Police joined in a concerted effort to prevent deaths in 1960.

Of equal importance was the work of newspapers and other publications and media.

During and after last season, word of the faulty systems was spread through reports of the deaths and the reason for them. Before and during the 1960 season, warnings were put out and repeated, and checks were made to make sure recommended changes were made.

The result: no deaths from this cause.

THE STATE LABOR mediation board is preparing public employee groups to handle properly any disputes that may arise.

A series of three meetings will be completed in the spring so that all parties connected with possible labor troubles involving public employees as defined by state law will know how to act when the time comes, if it does.

More highly organized employee groups in public and quasi-public enterprises and a substantial increase in public employee disputes has made it necessary to educate those involved, according to Allan D. Chisholm, chairman of the labor mediation board.

Why More Government In Business

The Post Office Department is considering introduction of a special kind of mail service by which letters could be transmitted electronically, presumably involving tremendous investment of public funds in facilities. If that assumption is correct, here would be another case of the Government entering a field of commercial enterprise developed long ago by private citizens.

In this case the Government would be in direct competition with Western Union Telegraph Company which is said to have more electronic facsimile equipment in operation than the rest of the world combined — some 10,000 facsimile machines are in actual operation — in very large city in the country.

Western Union has been furnishing telegraph service to the nation for 109 years. It has been a pioneer in the facsimile field for 25 years and has brought our nation to a position of world leadership in this medium through its own research and its own resources.

If facsimile letters are found to be a practical feature to be added to the postal service, what is to prevent the Post Office Department from contracting with existing publicly-regulated companies for the transmission of the messages the same as it does with railroads, air lines, telegraph companies, truck operators and others for the carrying of the mails?

The New York Daily News sums up the matter succinctly when it says: "Why shouldn't special types of mail, such as these facsimile letters, be carried by the private agencies best qualified to transmit them?"

If the Government now installs machinery for a vast facsimile mail enterprise much more will be involved than possible loss to taxpayers, and to private companies that are forced to compete with a new tax-free public utility.

It will mark another retreat from the concept of government doing for the people only what the people cannot do for themselves.

Now - To Work!

The American people were exposed to an extremity of distractions this past year. There was the tumultuous and unprecedented meeting of chiefs of state at the United Nations, which dominated the headlines for weeks. During it and after it was the long drawn out presidential campaign.

The UN meeting is over, and the Presidential decision has been reached. The congratulations of the American people have gone out to the energetic and determined President-Elect who will be the youngest man ever elected to the office and the second youngest ever to serve. More important, John Kennedy has the profound hopes of the people that he will find within himself the strength, resolution and wisdom to discharge the duties of the most difficult and exhausting job in the world.

Now, it is time to get back to work. The basic strength of this nation does not lie in the leaders, important as they are. It lies in the people. It is the thinking of the people, the decisions they reach, that will determine whether a free, proud and strong America is to be preserved or lost.

Again Michigan leads the Nation! 500 miles of freeways now open to traffic in Michigan!

A record-breaking 500 miles of modern freeways—easier driving and four times as safe as conventional highways—are now in use by millions of Michigan motorists and thousands of vacation travelers. One highway alone—Interstate 94—runs 203 continuous miles from downtown Detroit to St. Joseph. It's the longest stretch of toll-free, limited access highway in the United States!

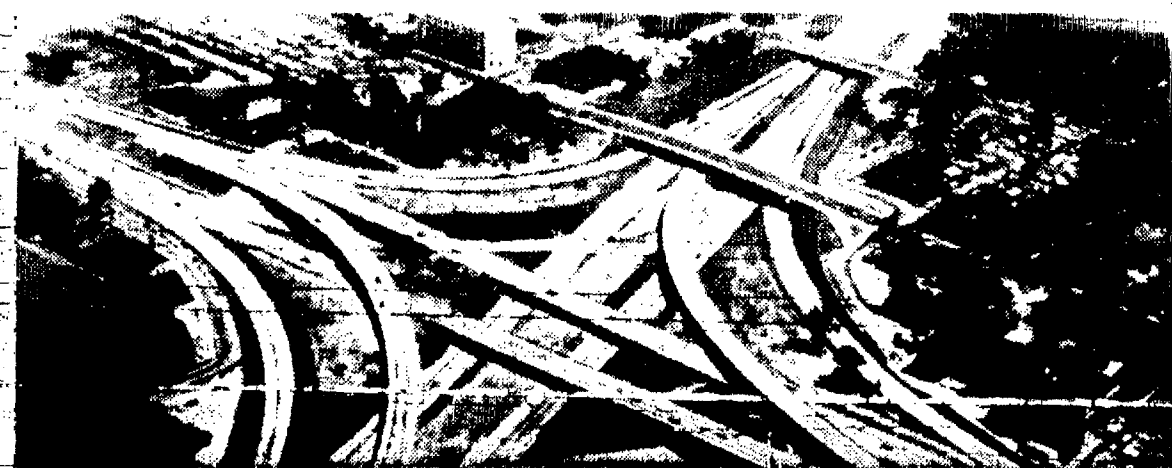

Today, Michigan holds 1st place in Interstate System construction—up from 35th place just 3 years ago. Since 1957, Michigan's freeway mileage has increased 5 times! You can thank your capable state highway engineers, backed by efficient road tax.

Beautiful new freeways are paved with concrete. Its lower cost and proven performance save tax money. Concrete highways and streets outlast asphalt almost 2 to 1 and cost up to 60% less to maintain. Add greater safety. Concrete gives more skid resistance, wet or dry, and better nighttime visibility.

In front-running Michigan and other progressive states, highway engineers choose concrete to save money and provide motorists with the safest, smoothest-riding, longest-lasting highways.

PREVENT CRIPPLING DISEASES

PLEASE SAY YES TO THE 1961 MARCH OF DIMES

This likeness of Linda Breese appears on millions of posters.

Linda Gail Breese, a pictorial and high-spirited young lady of four, who lives in Columbus, Ohio, was named this week as the 1961 New March of Dimes National Poster Child.

Selection of the vivacious child, a victim of the grave birth defects of an open spine and excess fluid on the brain, was announced by Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation, parent body of the New March of Dimes. Study and patient aid in birth defects and arthritis, together with continued work in polio, embody the expanded program of the health organization.

In January, during which the New March of Dimes will be held throughout the nation, Linda will probably feel she is facing mirrors everywhere she travels. That's because millions of posters will bear her likeness, in drawings and photographs, will also be published in thousands of newspapers and magazines. The blonde and blue-eyed child will also appear on network television.

Linda's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dean E. Breese. Her father is an industrial engineer. Her mother, Dorothy Lohr Breese, in addition to Linda has another daughter, Susan, 14, and two sons, Ronnie, 12, and Terry, six. Tragically, since there is handicapped Linda among the Breese children, Ronnie is a victim of cerebral palsy but his general physical condition is described as good.

"My husband and I are deeply grateful that at last something constructive is being done about birth defects," she says. "We pray that The National Foundation, through public contributions to the March of Dimes, financed the development of the Salk polio vaccine, will in time also solve the puzzle of birth defects, which are the largest unmet childhood medical problem in our country today."

Emphasizing the enormity of the problem, Mrs. Breese cited statistics showing that 250,000 infants in the United States are born annually with significant birth defects. Also, because of these congenital malformations, 34,000 babies a year in the nation are stillborn or die in the first four weeks of life.

Linda underwent surgery to close her spine when she was less than a day old. The operation was performed at Children's Hospital, Columbus, where The National Foundation with March of Dimes funds established the nation's first Birth Defects Study Center a few months ago. Nine months later, she again had surgery for excess fluid on the brain, and the little girl today wears a "shunt" tube to drain off this liquid. Linda also uses crutches but has been able to discard her leg braces.

Recently, while helping her mother wash dishes, she took three steps without her crutches—a memorable and hopeful event.

The three pictures above are of the famous Crawford County ghost town of Deward. The pictures were taken at the time the community was very active in lumbering.

This information was collected by Glenda Schofield and her classmates in the Sophomore English Class for Michigan Week last spring. The pictures were contributed by Richard Yoder, who was a Sophomore and whose father and grandparents once were residents of Deward.

DEWARD, THE GHOST TOWN

Deward, once a very busy lumbering town, had two important community areas. In one part of town were the buildings needed by the railroad workers. In the other part were those necessary for the operation of the big sawmill.

A roundhouse, a depot, a section house, a boarding house, and the railroad workers' homes were located in the one area. In the mill section there were many small neat family homes, a company general store, a church and a long two story boarding house.

Social events were often held in the community town hall, which was on the second floor of the company's general store.

DEWARD SCHOOL

Mrs. David Deward and Mr. Schoof, a general superintendent, each bought one-half of the $3,000 bonds issued which made possible the building of the Deward School. It was located in the community of Deward in Frederic Township between Section 7 and Section 8.

The school was a small white building which consisted of two rooms and a hall. The only source of heat was a large wood stove located in the middle of the room.

The children attended the school from the first grade through the eighth grade. If they wished to further their education they went to Frederic High School.

Mrs. Edith Olson, Mrs. Wallis and Miss Pauline Schreiber at one time taught at this small country school. Their pupils were the Jungmans, Lowes, Imbels, Rays, Goodenoughs, Eatons and Coons. Every year the students presented a Christmas program for all of the people in the community.

One time a teacher asked a student what the main industry of Deward was and his answer was, "Railroading, lumbering and moonshining." His answer was absolutely correct because a teacher's husband was a "moonshiner", so the student received an "A".

St. Mary's Ladies Club December 20th Meeting

The Christmas meeting was brought to order by President Rita McEvers. Prayers were led by Father Sakowski.

Secretary and treasurers reports were given and approved.

Eleanor McIsaac reported on the Feather and Gadget Parties held by the ladies.

A motion was made to present the Sisters and Lay teacher with their annual Christmas present.

The School Guild report was given by Rose Duley. The Show Party was discussed, a date for same will be set for sometime in January.

Laura Gould reported on the Christmas Party held for the aged at Mrs. Nill's Home. Forty of St. Mary's School children entertained.

Laura also mentioned several local shut-ins were visited and remembered with gifts during the Holiday Season including some of those confined at the Traverse City State Hospital. All the ladies were asked to send a Holiday Greeting to Angie Canniff residing there, and to please bring in some Catholic and otherwise good reading material to our next meeting to be passed on to the Traverse City State Hospital.

The Sisters shower also held the same evening was very successful.

The Polio Project will be scheduled for January with Cecile Cichala and Geneva Douglas as co-chairmen.

The meeting was then adjourned and Father Sakowski closed with a prayer.

Program books were given out for the year '60 and '61. Santa Claus-Cecile was played, Christmas gifts were exchanged, and a nice lunch was served by the Luncheon Committee.

Now You Can PLAN Your Calories To Keep Your Waistline Young.

The "middle-age spread" need not strike if you PLAN for it. As you grow older, your energy requirements go down — unless your calorie intake goes down also, then you're stuck with a growing waistline. How to keep your calorie intake down and stay comfortable is the big problem for millions of American adults. PLAN is the long-awaited answer — a delicious liquid dietary food that contains all the essential nutrients for an adult for one day, with 900 measured calories. With PLAN, you can stay trim and enjoy it!

Just drink a glass of PLAN instead of eating a heavy meal. You're getting a meal's worth of nutrients but far less than a meal's worth of calories. Do this whenever you can and whenever it's convenient. Perhaps one meal of PLAN every other day is enough for you to keep your waistline in shape. Maybe you'd be better off to PLAN two meals a day for the first several weeks in order to slim down where you want to be. You establish the correct level — now that PLAN is available, you'll love getting thin!

PLAN is available in the dairy case at your grocery store or delivered to your home by your dairy. It comes in two delicious flavors — vanilla and chocolate. It has keeping qualities like good fresh milk. PLAN now to avoid middle-age spread! Start today!
